The Joys of OA Community

exploration A yearlong and witnessing of how, together, we can do what seemed impossible to us alone. Of all the joys of the recovery process, having community continually adds to our potential recovery and eases the process of gaining abstinence.

This month sponsored by South Hills Group OA 12X12 writing / AA Bíg Book

Fellowship of OA

Bill W. discovered what would finally keep him sober: being there for another alcoholic. A fellowship of other AA's grew around him, and they stayed sober. Bill had discovered the spiritual component that fills that empty space inside of us. From that discovery came the 12 Step fellowships that are today saving the lives of those of us caught in the torment of addictions.

When I came to Overeaters Anonymous, I thought I was the only one who did these crazy things with food. I had isolated in food and fat all my life. "Fellowship" revolved around eating buddies and our mutual focus on food.

I didn't even know how to share, as others were doing. Over time, the unconditional love and acceptance I felt in the rooms gave me permission to trust, and to love people back. Higher Power spoke to me through others who had been where I was and who had found the way out.

I had come to OA for the diet. I didn't know I had a spiritual disease and needed a spiritual solution. When I looked back over months of freedom from compulsive overeating, I realized HP had done for me what I had never been able to do for myself! This was my spiritual awakening.

Lookíng UP

Fellowship continued

The OA fellowship is a source of spiritual nourishment for me. The fellowship sustains my spiritual awakening. When the feelings come up and food calls, help is just a prayer and a phone call away. Only another compulsive overeater is going to understand my compulsion to reach for food to fix a feeling. We get each other; it's what binds us together. Fellowship with others is the key to filling that hole inside I had tried to fill with food.

I cannot do this alone. I will always be a compulsive overeater/food addict. Higher Power does for me what I cannot do for myself: keeps me free from compulsive overeating. HP is healing me one day at a time as I stay close to Him through the fellowship of Overeaters Anonymous.

Step Nine a bridge of Love

I found a bottom to stand on and began my trembling steps out of the abyss of compulsion.

> Five steps to heal my past and give me a new way of life.

I continued the journey inside, finding a way to live my life fully but without disease.

Three steps that placed me body, mind and soul on a God centered path.

I take this ninth step to complete myself and reach out to those I love.

The first eight steps proved it is love not shame that guides my feet across the bridge of Love and Service

I am blessed, A friend
